

Special Interest Group for Addictions Counseling

The Special Interest Group (SIG) for Addictions Counseling is an assembly of members within the Connecticut Counseling Association (CCA) who specialize in the advocacy, prevention, and treatment of individuals whose lives and communities are impacted by addiction. Our mission is to advance the field of addictions counseling within the State of Connecticut. In accordance with our vision, we strive to provide networking and professional development opportunities for counselors, counselor educators, and counselors-in-training related to the clinical, ethical, and legal issues associated with substance use disorders.
